

BOOK CHAPTERS & JOURNAL ARTICLES

- Barasa, S. (2021). Trilingual code-switching: A form of urban tri-culture? In Paul Kerswill & Heike Wiese (Eds.), Urban contact dialects. London: Routledge.
- Barasa, S. & Valdez, M. (2021). Stories of Strength: A Systematic Review of the Use of Narratives in Character Education of Children. Journal of Education.
- Mous, M., & Barasa, S. N. (2021). Sheng and English in Kenya's Public Spaces and Media. In R. Mesthrie, E. Hurst-Harosh, & H. Brookes (Eds.), Youth Language Practices and Urban Language Contact in Africa (Cambridge Approaches to Language Contact) (New ed., pp. 141–158). Cambridge University Press.
- Barasa, S. (2018). African youth languages: The past, present and future attention. In Augustine Agwuele & Adams Bodomo (Eds.), The Routledge Handbook of African Linguistics. London: Routledge.
- Smakman, D. & Barasa, S. (2016) Defining 'standard'. Towards a cross-cultural definition of the language norm. London: Taylor & Francis.
- Barasa, S. (2016). Spoken code-switching in written form? Manifestation of Code-switching in Computer Mediated Communication. Journal of language contact 9: 49-70.
- Barasa, S. (2015). Ala! Kumbé? "Oh my! Is it so?" Multilingualism controversies in East Africa. In Dick Smakman & Patrick Heinrich (Eds.), Globalising Sociolinguistic. London: Routledge.
- Barasa, S. (2015). Is it Deliberate or Spontaneous? Manifestation of code-switching in computer mediated communication. In M. Dorleijn and A. Verschik (Eds.) Multilingual written internet data in language contact research. Journal of Language contact.
- Barasa, S. (2013). Leetspeak in Linguistic taboos: A study of Social Network Sites in Kenya. In R. Boogaart and H. Jansen (Eds.) Studies in Taalbeheersing 4. Proceedings of the Vereniging Interuniversitair Overleg Taalbeheersing (Viot) conference. (pp 49-58). Kominklijke Van Gorcum, Assen, The Netherlands.